History

On Sunday, November 13, 1904, the first services were conducted in Saint Barnabas Church by the first Priest-in-Charge, The Reverend A.A. St. Claire Moore of Jamaica, B.W.I. This was the culmination of the efforts of a group of Episcopal Ministers who had served at the Industrial Home for Colored Women on Armat Street, and who recognized the need for an Episcopal Church for Negroes in the Germantown Community. They located an unoccupied building at the corner of Rittenhouse and McCallum Streets, adjacent to the Joseph E. Hill Public School. This building had been occupied by The Zion Evangelical Church and its location seemed ideal for the "Church with a Heart in the Heart of Germantown." The matter was immediately brought before the Convocation to receive its sanction and approval. This it gave, and arranged for the purchase of the property. Several of the parishes gave their financial support to this movement and the late Bishop-Coadjutor Alexander Mackey-Smith contributed $2000 from the Missionary Funds of the Diocese, after the most urgent pleading by the Reverend Dr. Samuel Upjohn, rector of St. Luke's Church, Germantown, who, by the way, might rightly be called the father of St. Barnabas Church.

The first Priest-in-charge, Father Moore, served two years and was followed by The Reverend Maximo Felix Duty, D.D. of Nassau, Bahamas, who served the congregation for only three months. The Reverend E. Sydnor Thomas was appointed Priest-in-charge upon his graduation from the Philadelphia Divinity School in June, 1907.

In his letter published on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary, Father Thomas wrote: "Let us note, if you please, a few of the improvements made in our parish life. With an ardent desire to improve the music, and thereby the singing, the first effort was to secure a pipe organ. On faith, and faith alone, we wrote a letter to Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the philanthropist, asking him to help us to place a pipe organ in our church. The mere letter in response heartened us. Among many questions asked by Mr. Carnegie was this one, 'How much money have you raised toward the instrument?' We were prepared for that question, and we readily answered, $500. It met with his approval, and he wrote that he would give us half the cost of the organ. The instrument cost in 1912 was $1500, and Mr. Carnegie gave us $750. There was just one sad note in the whole proceedings, our young organist, Mr. James Sheppard, who worked for the instrument, became ill, while it was being built, and died without seeing or hearing the organ.

"Our next venture was to secure a house or Rectory. We lived too far away from the church. A Captain must be on the bridge of his ship, not in the hold, as no one can see him. After six years of trying we secured the house next to the church as the Rectory. The Convocation was mighty helpful. The house cost in 1914, $3100. We paid $1300 cash and carried a mortgage of $1800. The Confirmation Class of 1915 set out to pay at least the interest on the mortgage. The class gave a supper and cleared $50. Then something happened, an anonymous friend of St. Barnabas liquidated the entire mortgage.

"Nothing succeeds like success. When you taste victory, you long for more. Church furnishings were next in order. The high Altar, the Lectern, the Pulpit, and the Font were next on the agenda. As these were all memorials to honor the faithful departed, we had little or no difficulty in securing them.

"Then came The Big Job, building the Parish House. We made two bites at that cherry. The Convocation was with us, so was the Diocese headed by Bishop Philip M. Rhinelander. The first floor with a temporary roof was erected in 1923 at a cost of $22,000. That tested our mettle, but we found a great friend in Father Conkling, then rector of St. Luke's Germantown. After a four year lull we tackled the second floor and that was erected in loving memory of the Reverend Dr. Samuel Upjohn. Bishop Thomas J. Garland helped us tremendously to finish the structure in 1927, at a cost of $1800. So the entire Building cost $40,000,

"At the Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve, 1940, 'The Lady Altar', fully equipped, and donated by Father Conkling of St. Luke's, Germantown, in loving memory of Sisters Leila Mary and Bertha Ester of St. Mary's School for Girls on Germantown Avenue, was dedicated by Father Thomas. These two Sisters died within forty-eight hours of each other in 1940. It was a calamity, as their demise not only disrupted the school but also brought about its closing.

"'It's an ill wind that doesn't blow somebody good.' That's the old adage, and it was true in respect to an experience we had. One of those freak tropical storms visited Philadelphia several years ago causing much damage to property. It blew the chimney of our church building onto the roof of the Sunday School building and wrecked it. Of course, the torrential rains poured into the building and played havoc with everything. At that time we were in need of a real chancel with adequate space for the Choir, Acolytes, Clergy, and High Altar. Whether it was Carol, Edna or Hazel, we don't know, but an opportunity came to make that improvement. We worked real hard, both members and friends of St. Barnabas, and on All Saints Day, 1938, the late Bishop Francis M. Taitt, at a special service dedicated the new chancel. It cost $9000. The architect was the late Mr. Frank R. Watson, who also designed the Parish House. The sanctuary lamp that hangs before the High Altar is in loving memory of the late William Jackson Brown, a former Vestryman.

"One improvement calls for another so that you might keep going forward. The former Zion Evangelical Church did not have a center aisle and such a feature is a must in the Episcopal Church where processions are so frequent. Creating a center aisle was the next order of the day, and to that we applied ourselves. Once more our friends came to our assistance and the work was done. So, on Sunday Evening, December 5, 1943, when Bishop Hart visited our parish to give Confirmation, he dedicated the "Renovated Nave" in loving memory of the late Bishop Francis M. Taitt, a real friend of St. Barnabas Church.

"'Get out and stay out of debt' is a fine slogan. To that end Bishop Hart said to the Rector, 'There is a small indebtedness on the Parish House of $3000, if your parish will raise $1500, I will match it dollar for dollar.' We took him at his word, and when he again visited St. Barnabas to confirm a class on the fortieth Anniversary of the Rector, on June 13, 1947, the late Accounting Warden, Joseph U. Lee, and the Rector's Warden, Asa W. Anderson, Sr., presented him with a check for $1500, and the parish was free of all indebtedness.

"Mr. Clarence R. Lee, a member of the vestry who deals in plate glass suggested how to improve the beauty and loveliness of our church by installing stained glass windows. He secured the contractor, the congregation worked to raise the necessary funds, and on the first Sunday after Christmas, 1949, the retired Suffragan Bishop, Edward Thomas Denby, D.D., Cleveland, Ohio, visited our parish and dedicated 24 stained glass windows in loving memory of our dear ones."

Father Thomas closed this letter with the following remarks:

"Finally and I have purposefully left this item for the last because it was, and is, and ever will be the greatest event that took place in the life of our church, viz: The transistion from "St. Barnabas Mission to St. Barnabas Parish Church." That momemtous event took place on the first Tuesday in May, 1930, in the Church of the Holy Trinity, 19th and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia, where the Diocesan Convention was in session. 'Twas a proud moment for us when we 'knocked at the door of Convention' and asked to be admitted as 'a parish among the parishes' of the Diocese. We were admitted, and enjoyed the status of a self-supporting church ever since. Laus Deo!"

No historical record of St. Barnabas would be complete without mentioning Father Thomas' family. The woman who stood beside him, who shared his successes and failures, who stayed in the background yet whose presence, love and devotion were ever felt, Mrs. Antoinette Thomas. We must also mention by name their four children, all born in the Rectory: Ernest, Regina, Elizabeth and Reginald.

Upon the retirement of Father Thomas after a half-century of service at St. Barnabas, the Reverend Oscar E. Holder was called as Rector and assumed his duties on January 1, 1957. He recognized immediately the assets he had "inherited": a beautiful and well-appointed church building; a spacious parish house suitable for many uses; a rectory that was comfortable and conveniently located - and most important of all, a loyal, active and well-trained congregation.

Father Holder was therefore free to turn his attention to other opportunities, needs and challenges. To the veteran guilds that have been the mainstay of St. Barnabas for so many years, new groups were added with the express purpose of facilitating and encouraging maximum "involvement" in the parish life by all members, whatever might be their age levels, abilities or interests. These new organizations were: the Arts Guild; the Brotherhood of St. Andrew; the Charities League; the Coffee Hour Committee; the Girls' Friendly Society; the Guild of the Christ Child; the Music Committee; the "Little Symphony" Orchestra; the Parish Prayer and Study Group; the Periodicals Guild; and the Young Adults Club. After the re-activation of the Girl Scout Troop came the organization of the Boy Scouts, the Brownies, the Cubs and then later the Explorers.

Inspired, guided and assisted by many members in various ways, the new Rector steadily moved forward on a program for the improvement, development and maximum utilization of existing areas and facilities. Soon in the Parish house, there was a fully-equipped Parish Office; a "balcony" Parish Library; and a superb sound system (a gift by Mrs. Stephen Burnette in memory of her husband). Later, a small room in the church building was equipped as a Chapel; and a spacious basement area was converted into a multi-purpose Studio. It should be mentioned that virtually all these things were made possible, not by appropriations from the parish treasury, but by donations and volunteered services of members and friends of St. Barnabas.

In the eight years of Father Holder's service as Rector of St. Barnabas, 185 persons have been baptized; 252 confirmed and 124 received by transfer from other parishes. It is gratifying to note that the majority of the new members have become effectively and happily integrated into the total parish life.

The increase in membership and involvement of people demanded an expansion of the parish ministry and a corresponding increase in the worship services. This led to the calling of the Reverend Charles M. Johnson as assistant to the Rector. Father Johnson, since January of 1964, has served faithfully and well and has become, in a few short months, one of the most dedicated members of the parish family.

The outstanding characteristic of the Parish of St. Barnabas is "the family spirit", created and nurtured by its first pastor, and fostered by his successor. This spirit, implemented and supported by personal dedication of time, gifts and services makes the future of "The Church with a Heart in the Heart of Germantown" seem bright and inviting indeed.
